MUM HOPEFUL AFTER 'WONDER' DRUG MADE AVAILABLE ON NHS

New treatment could mean better quality of life for cystic fibrosis sufferers

Report by Kenny Parker

A WEST Lancs mum of two young children with cystic fibrosis is celebrating news that a 'wonder' drug - which she believes will allow them to have a better quality of life - is to be made available on the NHS!

Three-year-old Sienna Woods and her brother Noah, two, have spent much of their short lives in and out of hospital after being born with the incurable and life-shortening genetic disorder which causes mucus to collect in the lungs.

Now though, mum Shelby is hopeful that the pair will benefit from being treated with a drug called Orkambi, which effectively 'silences' the gene that causes cystic fibrosis and thins the mucus on the lungs,

Although approved for NHS use in 2016, it has been unavailable due to protracted arguments about the cost, with charges of £100,000 per patient per year originally quoted.

However, following a confidential deal with manufacturer, Vertex Pharmaceuticals - believed to be significantly less - patients should be able to get the drug within a few weeks.

And Shelby says she is "overwhelmed" after hearing the news while taking the children to yet another hospital appointment for an eye operation and to treat another infection.

Mum Shelby Woods with Noah and Sienna.

The 25-year-old and her partner Martin from Burscough previously featured in the Champion when fundraising to buy a machine to help them to perform physiotherapy on their children at home.

She said: "When I found out the drug was going to be made available it was just so overwhelming I was sobbing.

"We were actually taking the kids into hospital for another two-week stay at the time. I didn't believe it at first and I thought that maybe they had got it wrong or that Sienna and Noah wouldn't be the right age group as some of the medication is only for 12 years or above. But luckily this one is for children aged two years and upwards."

Shelby says she hopes that the children will now be able to put on weight and have the strength to fight off the frequent infections brought on by the condition without repeated trips to hospital

"The hospital trips really take a toll. Even doing one admission every six to 12 months is a strain, but recently we have had three admissions with the two of them in only 15 weeks.

"Now we are hoping when they have finished their current treatment, it will only be two weeks before they can begin the process to take the new drug.

"There are a few side effects but once you get past the first few weeks it is meant to be amazing. Orkambi will hopefully help them put on weight, become healthier and build up their immune system so they won't get as many bugs and will hopefully not have to be in and out of hospital all the time."

The announcement has also been welcomed by West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper who has been part of

TWO West Lancs veterans who struck up a friendship while serving side by side in the Korean War have been reunited after 66 years - thanks to the Champion!

Bill Abram from Halsall and Albert Briscoe from Burscough became pals while both were attached to the Royal Army Ordiance Corps supplying vital supplies to front-line troops during the 1950-53 conflict.

But while Bill was taking a well-deserved three-week leave in Tokyo, Albert was transferred. And when Bill returned, nobody could tell him where his pal had gone!

Over the years, Bill, now 86, says he often wondered what had happened to his friend but despite living only a few miles apart the pair's paths never crossed again.

Then, Bill saw our front page story in September about Albert receiving an Ambassador For Peace award on behalf of the government of South Korea for his part in the war and contacted us.

We were able to pass on contact details and now the pair are rekindling their friendship.

Voluntary groups can bid for share of CCG's 100k funding pot

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancs CVS has announced a new round of grants for the local voluntary sector, made possible by funding from West Lancs Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG).

The CCG investment of £100,000 into the West Lancs voluntary sector will create a series of grant pots for organisations to apply to for funding.

Groups can apply for projects which use behaviour change approaches to improve health and wellbeing across the three Primary Care Network (PCN) areas of West Lancashire - Skelmersdale and Up Holland; Ormskirk and Aughton; and Burscough, Parbold and the Northern Parishes.

This funding round is a repeat of last year's grants, when CCG investment enabled the creation of a grant funding pot for the West Lancs voluntary sector.

In the 2018-19 funding round, CCG grants were awarded to a wide range of organisations working to improve health and wellbeing across West Lancs. These included a Connected Counselling service; a partnership involving the Birchwood Centre; Yewdale Counselling Service and West Lancs Bereavement Counselling Service, which supports people undergoing counselling locally to also tackle life issues such as debt, housing problems, family problems, thereby enhancing the impact of counselling on the individual.

Among the small grants awarded was one to Up Holland Scouts for a canoeing project to engage to reach teenagers; another to a Wellbeing Cafe in Burscough run by Burscough Community hub; and an innovative outreach project by SWICAN offering welfare rights advice to isolated areas of the borough.

West Lancs CVS chief officer, Greg Mitten, said: "We are delighted that the CCG has committed to invest in the voluntary sector again this year through these grants.

Partnerships encouraged

"I have no doubt that the projects developed by voluntary, community, faith and social enterprise groups will be highly effective in finding new ways of working in partnership with our community to support health improvement.

"This is about developing partnership working, utilising our local community assets and thinking 'outside the box'".

A total of £100,000 will be available to local charities and voluntary groups and there are three sizes of funding pots available: - up to £1,000; £1,000 to £10,000; and £10,000 to £20,000.

Larger organisations will be encouraged to work in partnership alongside local smaller organisations, as well as making good use of community venues and services.

Application packs for all three funding pots are now available. For further information email vicky@wlcvs.org.

Brave mum who battled back from cancer twice opens research charity's new store in town

A MUM-of-two from Ormskirk who has twice battled cancer - having an eyeball removed and nearly losing a leg! - performed the official opening of the town's new Cancer Research UK's store in celebration of her survival.

Kimberly Harrison was joined by sons Noah, nine, and four-year-old Toby, when she cut the ribbon and opened the doors of the store in Burscough Street on Thursday (October 24).

The 38-year-old is supporting the charity to raise awareness and to encourage townsfolk to help the shop raise vital funds for research into the dreaded disease.

Kimberly's first clash with cancer came when she was pregnant with Noah in 2009. Noticing a large lump the size of an orange on her left knee, she visited her GP who initially put the swelling down to pregnancy-related fluid retention.

But two months after giving birth she was diagnosed with sarcoma - a rare form of cancer that affected her connective tissue.

She said; "I was absolutely gobsmacked. Cancer just isn't something you expect will happen to you.

"My first thought was Noah and the thought of him growing up without me. I had only just given birth and felt like I was being robbed of what was supposed to be a lovely, happy time as a new mum."

Then just 29, Kimberley says her world came crashing down when she was told that her leg would need to be amputated.

But the evening before her scheduled surgery doctors discovered they might be able to operate without removing the entire leg - thanks to a one millimetre gap they had identified between the tumour and her bone.

The operation went ahead and although surgeons removed a large part of Kimberly's leg, including her kneecap and surrounding muscles, they were able to save the limb.

Miraculously, with the support of her "amazing family, and "incredibly strong" husband Dan, the brave mum returned to her job as sixth-form administration manager at a high school in Walton, Liverpool, just a month after finishing treatment.

But just when she thought her cancer ordeal was over, she was dealt another blow.

Weeks after returning to work, she felt her vision becoming blurry while watching television and booked what she expected to be a routine eye test.

However, staff at the opticians immediately referred her to St Paul's Eye Hospital in Liverpool where she was told she had an aggressive form of cancer called a choroidol melanoma - and the best option for treatment was to remove her left eyeball!

Kimberly and Noah perform the ribbon-cutting ceremony to open the new Cancer Research UK charity shop in Burscough Street, Ormskirk.

Kimberly said: "When they told me I just ran to the toilet and threw up! It was the darkest day of my life. I couldn't believe I was being told I had cancer again and that I was going to lose my eye."

And just a week later she had surgery to remove her whole eyeball.

Once again though she bounced back, returning to work just two weeks later, wearing a special pair of glasses with one black lens and one clear lens, specially made by her optician father-in-law.

And she is determined to raise awareness of the lifesaving research carried out by Cancer Research UK and the need to continue to develop better and kinder treatments for people with cancer.

She said she was really proud to be asked to open the new shop in Ormskirk.

"I am living proof of why research into cancer is so important. Without advances in science, I might not be here today."

Meanwhile the shop is seeking volunteers with an interest in retail who can spare a few hours every week. Anyone interested can call in during opening hours (9am to 5.30pm, Monday to Saturday) and speak to manager, Suzy Duke.

New hope for cystic fibrosis sufferers after 'wonder' drug made available on NHS the campaign to make the drug manufacturer and the health authorities come to an agreement.

Ms Cooper, a member of Parliament's Health and Social Care Select Committee, says she has long campaigned for the NHS, Vertex and the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE) to come to an agreement so that Orkambi could be provided for cystic fibrosis patients.

She said: "For far too long cystic fibrosis patients and their families have had to wait whilst NHS England, NICE and Vertex negotiated the terms of making Orkambi available.

"This life-changing drug is finally now available, and I know the many constituents who have campaigned with me on this issue will be relieved."

Old pals reunited - thanks to Champ!

Bill said: "If it hadn't been for the Champion story I would probably never have caught up with Albert. I went off on leave and when I came back he had moved but nobody knew where. I often wondered what happened to him."

Like Albert, Bill was just 19 when he was called to serve in the Korean War as part of his National Service but apart from the friends he made, he doesn't have good memories of the conflict, which he said was frightening and the food was terrible.

Although he wasn't injured, he did contract malaria and when he returned home had to spend three months in isolation at Southport Hospital.

After an initial phone call, the pair met up at the Toby Carvery in Ormskirk for a breakfast with fellow veterans and later enjoyed chatting about old times over a pub lunch.

Albert says he was overwhelmed with emotion when his friend got in touch. "It was fantastic to meet up again after all this time and we wondered how we lost contact."

And hearing from Bill wasn't the only surprise Albert received after our article. Two days later there was a knock on his door from a man he worked opposite for more than 20 years in the engineering trade.

His former collegue said: "You never told me you were in Korea - I was there at the same time!"

Meanwhile, Bill and Albert have both joined the Skelmersdale Veterans Association and plan to continue to meet up. And Bill is also being given assistance to make an application for his own Ambassador For Peace award.

Burscough waste recycling centre to close on Tuesdays and Wednesdays

LANCASHIRE County Council's waste recycling centre at Abbey Lane, Burscough will be closed on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from next month.

New opening hours are to be introduced at all the authority's recycling centres from Friday, November 1.

Following a public consultation, the council's cabinet agreed the changes to help the council balance its budget while minimising the impact on how people use the sites.

The changes will see the opening hours change from 8am to 7pm in the summer and 8am to 5pm in the winter to 9am to 5pm all year round.

The council says that surveys have shown that visitor numbers are relatively low at either end of the day.

Meanwhile, at what the council described as its 'quieter sites' - including Burscough - centres will be closed two days per week.

Proposals to also close the Skelmersdale recycling centre on Glenburn Road on two days per week were shelved following the consultation when respondents said it was busy every day. .

To check when your local recycling centre is open go www.lancashire.gov.uk and search for 'waste and recycling'.

History group exhibition dedicated to memory of Champ photographer Martyn attracts 800-plus visitors

THE organiser of an exhibition, dedicated to the memory of late Champion photographer Martyn Snape, and featuring hundreds of old photos from West Lancs has thanked supporters and visitors following another successful event.

Organised by Michael Dawson of Images of Burscough, the event was also supported by other local history groups, while for the younger generation, Clare Williams from Amy's Amazing Stories was in attendance with a range of children's books to buy,

The exhibition was opened by Deputy Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Terry Aldridge and Councillor Noel Delaney along with members of Martyn Snape's family. Martyn, who was a stalwart of the Champion for more than 20 years, passed away in June at the age of 65, following a short illness.

Michael Dawson thanked the other history groups for their support, along with the individuals who helped behind the scenes and those who donated raffle prizes.

And he added: "Mostly I would like to thank all the people who visited the exhibition over the weekend and all the people who brought photos for me to copy.

"I really hope you enjoyed it all. Saturday was a little quieter, but Sunday was incredibly busy.

"As you will know, the exhibition was dedicated to Martyn Snape and Images of Burscough has donated £260 to the Queenscourt Hospice shop in Burscough Village along with 20 calendars for them to sell in Martyn's name. That will make a grand total of £400.

"Images of Burscough will also donate £100 to the Well-Being group that is run by Cynthia Dereli on a Wednesday afternoon at the Grove."

Campaigners say fracking report 'confirms fears'

Report by Kenny Parker

CAMPAIGNERS opposed to fracking at Altcar Moss claim a recent report by the National Audit Office "confirms their worst fears about the Government's lack of knowledge about the industry."

The report, published last week, stated that its aim was to "set out the facts to help Parliament consider whether taxpayers' interests are being protected effectively."

Key findings in the report include:

- The Government does not know much shale gas can be extracted and, therefore, what are the economic benefits fracking will bring.
- While it is hoped the industry will reduce the country's dependence on imported fuel, it is not expected to provide a cheaper supply of gas to consumers.
- The Government does not have the technology to limit greenhouse gas emissions to maintain its commitment to tackle climate change

Public opposition to fracking has almost doubled between 2013 and 2019, from 21% to 40%, with the concerns centred on environmental impacts and public health risks, including earthquakes

While landowners may be liable for decommissioning costs of a shale gas well if an operator is unable to fund them, the arrangements are said to be unclear and untested. There is no legislation on the matter.

Following the release of the report national and local groups opposed to fracking issued a joint press release saying that the "lack of Government knowledge and awareness of the impacts of fracking is staggering, as are the claims that the UK has leading regulatory standards."

Maureen Mills of Moss Alliance.

Maureen Mills of Moss Alliance, which is opposed to plans by energy firm Aurora to carry out fracking at Altcar Moss, said: "This analysis reveals in one place the extent of the gross negligence by a Government department.

"It confirms all the fears, and more, of local communities who have educated themselves about fracking."

Dad stages concert to say 'thanks' to hospital's lifesavers

Report by Kenny Parker

AN amateur music enthusiast from Skelmersdale whose children's lives were saved by staff at Ormskirk Hospital after being born prematurely organised a special fundraising concert in aid of the hospital's neonatal unit.

Ian Lawson's son Benjamin and daughter Megan are now a healthy 12 and eight years old respectively - but he and his wife Denise will be forever grateful for the lifesaving skills of the unit's staff.

And to mark his 40th birthday, Ian rounded up friends and colleagues from the local theatre and musical community to stage a concert at Ormskirk Civic Hall (The Civic) which kindly donated use of the room and lighting free, while local businesses contributed prizes for a raffle.

Ormskirk School pupil Benjamin and Megan, who attends Trinity Primary in Skelmersdale, also performed at the event helping to raise a grand total of £1,873 which the family presented to ward manager, Karen Wareing.

Ian explained: "When Benjamin was born eight weeks premature he contracted sepsis and was on and off a ventilator for a week. It's hard to describe what it is like to have a child in neonatal care and to have a conversation about whether or not you should call a priest.

"Thankfully, the doctors and nurses managed to get Benjamin's sepsis under control and from that point he started to make progress."

Incredibly, four years later the family were on holiday in North Wales when Denise went into premature labour again. They were unable to get back to Ormskirk in time and Megan was born at Bodelwyddan Hospital. Like her brother, she had to be placed on life support but once her condition was stable she was transferred to Ormskirk.

Ian said: "The care from the doctors and nurses at both Ormskirk and Bodelwyddan was second to none. Without them, our lives would be so different, it genuinely doesn't bear thinking about.

"Although we owe them a debt that we can never repay, hopefully the money we raised with the concert will at least go some way to showing our gratitude."

Juliette Cosgrove, director of nursing, midwifery and therapies at Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals Trust, said: "What a fantastic effort from this amazing bunch of people. To be still supporting us after so much time has passed is really incredibly kind. We are very grateful.

"Funds are always needed and this is such a generous donation. Our neonatal unit supports families at an incredibly stressful time, through situations that thankfully most of us do not ever experience. Donations such as this enable the unit to buy extra equipment or provide additional services to make families' time there a little easier."

Police commissioner launches new fund to tackle knife crime

Community and third sector organisations invited to apply for share of £100k pot

LANCASHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw, has launched a new fund aimed at tackling knife crime across the county.

The commissioner is calling on community and third sector organisations to submit funding applications for projects that aim to address the known underlying causes and drivers of knife crime

Groups can bid for up to £20k for initiatives from a £100k funding pot which the commissioner has set aside from the £1.8m Home Office grant. The majority of the funding is being used to support additional operational activity.

Groups can bid for up to £20k for projects aimed at addressing the known underlying causes and drivers of knife crime.

The grant has also been used to secure a number of knife 'arches' for use in town and city centres or at specific events where there are concerns regarding the potential for carrying or using knives.

A number of knife bins have also been obtained to ensure there are "adequate opportunities" for the surrender of knives and other bladed items.

Clive Grunshaw said: "Tackling crime and developing safe and confident communities are key priorities for me and this funding will enable organisations with the experience and know-how to get involved in reducing knife crime and serious violence in Lancashire.

"I fully support the 'public health' approach to violent crime. We continue to lose too many young lives to knife crime and serious violence and it's crucial that all parts of our society work together to tackle it head-on and make our communities safer.

"This fund is a fantastic opportunity for community and third sector organisations to apply for funding for projects that can reduce the cycle of knife crime and serious violence through diversionary and targeted interventions.

"Policing alone cannot prevent people offending and that is why I continue to support initiatives that break the cycle offenders all too often find themselves trapped in, moving them away from a life of crime."

The fund opened for applications on Monday, October 21 and will close at 5pm on Friday, November 15.

Applications will be subject to strict criteria that will need to be met before funding is issued.

Full details of the fund and application forms are available at: https://www.lancashire-pcc.gov.uk/our-money/grant-funding/knife-crime-and-violence-reduction.

Julie rallies community to raise funds for lifesaving defibrillator

A COMMUNITY-minded West Lancs resident was prompted to raise funds to install a publicly available defibrillator near her home after learning that the nearest one was about a 10-minute drive away.

Julie Hughes, who lives in Rufford New Hall, sprang into action hall reading that, according to the British Heart Foundation, for every minute it takes for a defibrillator to reach someone and deliver a shock, their chances of survival reduce by up to 10%.

After liaising with the North West Ambulance Service she set up a JustGiving Page and with the help of husband, George, set about appealing for contributions from her neighbours and residents of nearby Springwood Drive and Longshaw Close.

And, thanks to support from the West Lancashire Freemasons and Rufford Parish Council, she raised the £1,400 needed for the defibrillator and external cabinet, plus £400 towards its future maintenance.

Julie said: "I was concerned that our nearest Automated External Defibrillator was too far away to save a life in the case of sudden cardiac arrest.

"I was also keen to raise awareness as many people just don't seem to realise that in the case of sudden cardiac arrest it's vital to start defibrillation as soon as possible as the chances of survival decline by 10% with every minute that passes."

She added: "I would like to thank everyone who has supported this project and helped us to achieve our goal in less than two months."

Teenager strikes a blow for climate change campaign

A WEST Lancs teenager who was unable to join in a climate change 'strike' in Liverpool took the initiative by organising his own protest in Ormskirk town centre.

And the 14-year-old, a pupil at the Maharishi School in Lathom, was joined at various times during the day by youngsters from Our Lady Queen of Peace Engineering College in Skelmersdale and St Bede's Catholic High School in Ormskirk, as well as local councillors, Labour party members and students from Edge Hill University.

Dan said that although generally their efforts were well supported by members of the public, not everyone appreciated their stance and they were subjected to some verbal abuse.

"Over the course of the day, I'd say around 30 or so people came and stood with us, but many more were supportive. Quite a few stopped and had a chat as well.

"Admittedly others weren't so nice, which was a bit disheartening, but far from deterring me they just made me more determined to deliver the message that we are standing up against climate change."

Started by Greta Thunberg with a protest outside the Swedish parliament, the Fridays for Future movement, has since become a worldwide phenomenon, boosted by social media, with many students and adults taking up the cause.

Dan added: "It's incredibly important that we stand up for our future. If we don't almost eliminate our carbon emissions by 2030, we don't stand a chance - and it's not just me and a few other students saying that, the 1,600-page United Nations, report published by top scientists across the globe, says so too.

"So, I'm missing school for that purpose because, in Greta Thunberg's words, 'what's the point in studying for a future if there is no future to study for?'"

NHS staff shine at awards ceremony

IT was a 'Time to Shine' for health staff when Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust held its annual awards ceremony at Formby Hall

Most of the nominees were chosen by colleagues at the trust, apart from 'The People's Health Hero Award' which was nominated by patients and visitors.

The hero award went to the Hospital Alcohol Liaison Team (HALT), based in the emergency department at Southport Hospital. The team were picked as clear winners thanks to some heartfelt nominations, which included one patient saying: "The HALT team helped me overcome my long battle with alcoholism. Their knowledge, skills and support are lifesavers. Without them, I don't like to think where I would be today. They saved my life and put my family back together. I can't praise them enough."

Therese Patten, deputy chief executive, said: "This was a fantastic night. Congratulations to all of those nominated, shortlisted and, of course, the winners.

"This is such a good opportunity to celebrate the everyday excellence of NHS workers and I would like to offer a heartfelt thank you to all for the exceptional care and professionalism delivered every day."

Stroke Ward staff are presented with their award.

HALT team celebrate winning the 'Hero' title.

Pupils' poignant visit to First World War battlefields

Report by Kenny Parker

YOUNGSTERS from an Ormskirk school visited First World War battlefields for a project to remember the fallen from West Lancs and document the stories of the families left behind.

Four pupils and a teacher from St Bede's Catholic High joined with six other schools from Lancashire and Merseyside for the poignant trip to Belgium and France organised by University College London's Institute of Education as part of its Legacy 110 project.

The aim of the project is "for every participating student to create an enduring legacy by impacting upon at least 110 people within their local community."

Originally, the target for the project was to reach 888,246 people by 2019, equivalent to the number of British and Commonwealth soldiers who fell during the 1914-18 war. Instead an estimated 15 million-plus are said to have been involved.

For their project, the St Bede's pupils are compiling a database of the names of the around 300 soldiers from West Lancashire who died in the so-called Great War and to learn about the loved ones they left behind.

During their trip they stayed at a hostel in Peace Village just outside Ypres in Belgium, scene of the Battle of Messines in June 1917.

On a visit to the nearby Zonnebecke Museum they were given a glimpse of what life was like for those at the front line in recreated trenches and they also visited the Tyne Cot Commonwealth War Graves Cemetery where they tried to find soldiers from the local area.

They also went to a cemetery for German war dead at nearby Langemark where some of the pupils said they experienced "a feeling of unease and discomfort" and later discovered that Adolf Hitler had actually stood on the same spot!

The St Bede's Catholic High School group pictured at Le Francport near Compiègne, France, where the Armistice was signed.

The second day of their stay saw them visit the scene of the Battle of the Somme in France where they got a chance to see the remains of real trenches at Beaumont Hamel.

And the trip was rounded off with a visit to Le Francport near Compiègne in France where the signing of the Armistice took place. Here they explored the museum and the replica of the train on which the treaty was signed.

Teacher Andrew Holt, who accompanied the pupils said school plans to create a presentation and display which, when completed, will be shared with other schools in the area.

Memo to our local politicians - Skelmersdale already has a train station - it's dire, but it's there!

ANOTHER week, another story from another local politician calling for a train station in Skelmersdale.

News flash - it already has one!

It's pretty dire. There's no bus service, no car parking and a long walk from anywhere to use it.

Operated by Northern, it has the minimal viable train service throughout the week without any trains on a Sunday.

There's no access for disabled customers arriving from Wigan or wanting to travel to Kirkby.

But, it's there.

If Northern don't see the point in improving the facilities and the bus companies can't see the value in a bus service, why do our councilors think a train in the centre of Skelmersdale would fare any better?

Why don't they spend significantly less of the public purse and lobby for improvement to the existing, failing service?

If the councillors continue with their current themes, Skelmersdale will have two empty shopping centres and two unused train stations.

Stuart Taylor, by email.

PICTURE of the week

THIS atmospheric photo was submitted by reader, Philiip Parry from Digmoor, Skelmersdale and entitled 'Deer looking over the Amphitheatre, Yewdale.' If you would like to submit a photo to be considered for our Picture of the Week slot, you can simply email it to us at editorial@champnews.com. Please remember to include your name, the area where you live and brief caption details.

Chance to nominate a carer for a well-deserved break

WE'D like to invite your readers to nominate a deserving carer who will be in with the chance of going on a free holiday, while the person they care for comes on a free break with us, Revitalise, through our brand-new Grace Award for Caring.

There are approximately 7.3 million carers in the UK, many among your readers, and this award has been created to recognise and reward those partners, relatives and friends who spend their lives selflessly devoted to caring for their loved ones.

I work for Revitalise - an amazing charity that creates holidays for disabled people and carers at Sandpipers in Southport. Revitalise has two other fully-accessible holiday centres in Chigwell in Essex and Southampton.

Carers save the economy £132bn per year, which is more than the NHS budget. The Grace Award for Caring was named not only because it takes grace to care for someone, also because it takes grace to accept care from someone.

That's why we're showing our support for carers across the UK, calling for people to nominate a carer they know who truly deserves a break.

The campaign is being fronted by television presenter and tennis champion, Sue Barker OBE, who has said: "I am thrilled to be launching this award with Revitalise to give carers the opportunity to go on a well-deserved break while those that they care for enjoy a free holiday with Revitalise.

"I'm really looking forward to rewarding deserving carers in the UK with the time off they need to relax and recharge."

To nominate a carer please visit: www.revitalise.org.uk/graceawards or call: 0303 303 0145.

Thank you.

Abby Kessock-Philip, Revitalise.

Let's hear it for the Red Rose!

MEMBERS of the Friends of Real Lancashire group are busy planning their annual list of events ahead of Lancashire Day, on November 27.

The group want people, community groups and schools to let them know of any events they would like to hold in honour of the Red Rose county on Lancashire Day or during the week.

We want to hear from people who have planned an event to take place on the day or during that week.

As well as showing loyalty to our Red Rose county, Lancashire Day is an opportunity to raise money for charity and for businesses to promote Lancashire produce.

At the beginning of November, events are posted on our website www.forl.co.uk

Events usually include, Lancashire Day proclamations, Lancashire nights with traditional beer, food and entertainment, lunches, afternoon teas, shops with Lancashire produce, restaurants with a special Lancashire menu,exhibitions, heritage walks, quiz nights and reading of Lancashire dialect.

Jeff Carter, Friends of Real Lancashire.

Puzzled by this interpretation of Highways Act

FOLLOWING the apparent 'green light' given by policeman Billy Mathews to partially park cars on pavements/verges (Champion, October 9) I'm interested to know how his interpretation of the law sits with The Highways Act, 1980, Section 137.

This says that "if a person, without lawful authority or excuse, in any way wilfully obstructs the free passage along the highway, he is guilty of an offence" given that a "highway" is not limited to just the roadway but is fully extended to include pavements and verges.

Curious of Aughton, by email.

When will something be done about this pothole menace?

HAVING decided to go for a short bike ride on Sunday, October 20 I came across this pothole (pictured, right) in Winifred Lane, Aughton, near the children's playground.

Had my front wheel gone down it I would have been on my way to A & E.

Disgraceful, accident waiting to happen. This is appalling and it's not alone on that road.

When will someone in WLDC take ownership and DO something?

John M. Brown, Aughton.

Rosie Cooper slams plans to axe free TV licences for over-75s

MP calls for Government to halt "callous policy" as an estimated 5,600 elderly people in borough living with dementia face losing main source of comfort

Report by Henry James

NEW figures revealed by the Labour Party suggest that nearly 60,000 over-75s living with dementia in the North West - including an estimated 5,600 in West Lancs - could lose their free TV licence next year.

Although maintaining free TV licences for over-75s was a 2017 Conservative Party manifesto commitment, as part of the BBC charter renewal process the Government forced the corporation to take on the cost.

As a result, from next year, only those in receipt of Pension Credit will receive a free TV licence, meaning that 3.7 million older people will lose out across the country. Just 19% of over-75s currently receive Pension Credit.

Free TV licences are viewed as an important benefit for older people who suffer disproportionately from loneliness and social isolation. Four in ten say the television is their main source of company. It is also feared applying for a licence could be a challenge for many, particularly those living with dementia.

West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper said: "The Tories should be hanging their heads in shame at the way they are planning to strip older people of their free TV licences. For West Lancashire alone an estimated 5,600 over-75s with dementia face losing their free TV licence.

"Older people with dementia often struggle with daily tasks and their television is a comfort. It would be a terrible cruelty to take their TV licence away and force them to reapply and pay for it. The Government should halt this callous policy immediately."

Rock 'n' roll fundraiser at Civic

GIG4Life, a venture between Cancer Research UK and local rock bands, will be returning to Ormskirk's Civic Hall with a fundraising concert in aid of the charity on Friday, November 1.

Staring at 7.30pm, 'Rockin At The Civic' promises a 'great night of rock 'n' roll music from the 50s, 60sand 70s wth Gig4Life resident bands Shooter and The Rebels, together with guests, No Name (The Band), Age Gap and The Fabulous Fontaines.

Tickets, priced £12 including a hot-pot supper, are available from the civic hall (tel. 01695 576607) and Hesfords DIY, Moorgate, (tel. 01695 5725640).

Last chance to have a say on council licensing policy

THERE'S still time - just - for members of the public to give their views on the document West Lancashire Borough Council uses when licensing pubs, bars and other licensed operations across the borough.

The authority is asking for comments on its draft Licensing Policy to ensure it reflects the opinions of residents and all businesses - not just licensed premises - within West Lancs.

Proposed amendments include changes to the licence review process to set out explicit expectations for licence breaches and/or criminal activity, and a clearer definition of public nuisance to help the council when examining contested applications.

The draft policy can be found on the council's website at www.westlancs.gov.uk/licensing and residents have until Thursday, October 31 to give their views.

Councillor Kevin Wright, cabinet member for health and community safety, said: "We want to thank everyone who has commented on the draft policy so far. We would encourage others to have their say as it is essential that we get as much feedback from local people and businesses as possible."

Councillor Kevin Wright.

Ambulance service appoints new associate non-executive director

Professor Rod Thomson

THE North West Ambulance Service (NWAS) has appointed a new associate non-executive director.

Professor Rod Thomson, who has taken on the role until August 31, 2021, began his career as a psychiatric nurse in Glasgow and later qualified as a health visitor working with the homeless, substance misusers and victims of abuse.

Moving to the North West of England in 1990, he took on a locality manager role in Cheshire and was also the clinical lead for child protection. He was later seconded to Merseyside and then North West Regional Health Authority to lead programmes of work regarding child protection and public health.

Between 1996 and 2010 he held a range of senior public health roles in Liverpool and Sefton and in 2010 he was appointed as Director of Public Health for Shropshire.

NWAS chairman, Peter White said: "Rod has had a varied and successful career. His clinical experience will bring valuable expertise to our board."

The Queenscourt Hospice online Lights of Love tree.

Queenscourt Lights of Love appeal launched

THE annual Lights of Love appeal, dedicated to loved ones who have been lost, has been launched at Queenscourt Hospice.

The lights on the hospice's trees will be lit up in memory of patients who have died.

Anyone wishing to make a donation and name a star on the hospice's online tree can do so by visiting the Queencourt website.

A spokesperson for the charity said: "People are invited to honour the life of someone special by dedicating a light and making a donation to our Lights of Love appeal. "You can even share a photo of your loved one with your message.

"All dedications received by Friday, November 22 will be displayed in our Book of Dedications which can be viewed at our Lights of Love services.

"You are invited to join us on Saturday, November 30 at 4pm at Christ the King School in Southport or on Sunday, December 1 at 4pm at the parish church in Ormskirk. The services are free and not ticketed. However, to help us to plan, we would be grateful if you could let us know if you would like to attend.

"Thank you so much for your support. It really does make a difference to the services we are able to provide to our patients and their families in Southport, Formby and West Lancashire."

There's no 'golden bullet' for saving the planet

WE are fixated these days, and probably rightly so, on climate change.

We should all have electric cars, we should stop eating red meat, embrace alternative sources of power, shun fossil fuels.

And all of these measures will help.

But because the world population increases year on year, we are fighting a losing battle.

More people means not only more mouths to feed and more folk to find homes for, but inevitably more and more of our planet covered in concrete for these homes and new roads to accommodate the increased traffic.

More of the vital rain forests disappearing in order to provide more food and employment for more people, more factories and more pollution.

And I am not about to come up with some marvellous solution to this very real problem.

We can fiddle around the edges, but global warming will win because we cannot contain the central problem - nor even talk sensibly about it.

But I was heartened by a radio broadcast by a female professor who pointed out that no scientist can accurately say what will happen over any given future period and their 'best guesses' were predictions only and the final outcome can sometimes be very different.

I don't think she had a 'golden bullet' either, but she did seem to think that Mother Nature has in the past often surprised everybody by her resilience to changes wrought upon her by us.

So there is hope yet - and I suppose our present efforts at cleaning up our act will in any case leave us with a better world in which to live.

I just wish we could perhaps be a little more consistent though.

Yes, we want cleaner, greener vehicles and these we are getting. But at the same time we are building on farming land, creating more motorways which may be OK carbon-wise but still lead more traffic into our already seriously cluttered cities and towns.

In our haste to ban diesels from our city streets we slap on heavy taxes - but the fact remains that urban roads are becoming increasingly clogged with traffic and nothing, absolutely nothing, seems to be being done to stop this.

In Liverpool for instance, the City Mayor's answer to keep the traffic generally moving little more quickly was to remove most of the bus lanes created in the first place to speed the public transport option as opposed to driving into the city in the first place.

It's crazy.

It doesn't take an 'expert' surely to realise that as the population outside cities increases with more and more urban house building, there will come a time when city streets simply seize up.

Domestic problem

So Draconian measures are needed not in this case necessarily to Save the Planet, but simply to save our cities (and, increasingly, rural towns as well.)

It's very easy to clamp down on the owners of 'dirty' diesel cars (which only a few years ago the Government was urging us to buy!) and at the same time bring in the cash through fines on them - when are we going to see anyone in authority actually saying: "Well, the fact is that you simply cannot casually drive into Liverpool (or London or Birmingham)."

So by all means carry on the good work to tackle climate change - but don't forget that we have a barely hidden domestic problem too.

We have also to tackle the problem of actually getting from A to B in our electric heaven - and when we get there finding a bit of space actually to stop - assuming you are still moving anyway.

EXPERIENCE A SPELLBINDING WEEKEND AT DALTONS WAY

House hunters and witch hunters may both find what they are looking for this weekend at Daltons Way. Award-winning home builders Kier Living are delighted to be launching their new development of 2, 3, 4 and 5 bedroom homes this Saturday to coincide with the spookiest weekend of the year.

The Halloween themed event, which spans Saturday and Sunday, is open to everyone and it's double double toil and trouble as visitors will be invited to view not one, but two brand new show homes at the West Lancashire village site. The exquisite three-bedroom Redwood and four-bedroom Newford properties come complete with carved pumpkins in their gardens and are opening their doors for the very first time!

A range of impressive new builds

There are several different house types available at Daltons Way, each one possessing their own unique, stand-out features that will make visitors fall in love with the right property for them. There is something for everyone

– whether a first-time buyer, home owners thinking about up- or down-sizing, or families looking for their forever home. Kier Living have purposefully appealed to a diverse range of house buyers to help build a community in this elegant development nestled away in a sought-after village location. Surrounded by wooded valleys and scenic open spaces, new homeowners at Daltons Way will also benefit from a thriving local high street and access to Beacon Country Park and Dean Wood Golf Club.

Tricks and Treats!

The spooky fun commences at 11.30am on Saturday 2nd November when Deputy Mayor of West Lancashire Council, Cllr Terry Aldridge, will officially open the new show homes and marketing suite. Then there's an opportunity to take part in a spine-chilling ghost hunt courtesy of Rock FM, with the chance to win a £250 Next voucher. Who will be brave enough to have a go?

Charity unveils new sensory gardens thanks to award of £50,000 worth of grants from Lancashire Environment Fund

Report by Kenny Parker

Apple Cast chief executive Neil Farnworth by the pond which is a feature of the Newburgh-based charity's new sensory gardens.

A WEST Lancs charity which supports children and young people who aren't able to attend school has opened new sensory gardens - thanks to £50,0000 worth of grants from the Lancashire Environment Fund.

Apple Cast, based in Newburgh, supports children and young people who are excluded from school or who can't attend mainstream education for social, emotional or health reasons or disability.

It provides a variety of activities including working with small farm animals, horticulture, conservation, indoor and outdoor angling, fish breeding, aquaponics, agriculture and bespoke woodwork shops.

The charity was originally awarded £30,000 by the LEF to landscape and create sensory gardens. This was then followed by a further £20,000 from the LEF's 20th Anniversary Fund which it used to create pathways to make the gardens accessible to people with disabilities

The charity's chief executive officer, Neil Farnworth, says the gardens have been created in such a way as to ensure the landscape remains natural and they did not deflect from the area's environmental beauty.

The sensory gardens incorporate a koi pond with waterfall, peace garden, annual garden, herb garden, cottage garden, woodland creation and wild flower area.

Apple Cast is also developing a natural play area which will be ready early next year

Neil said an open day held to give the local community and LEF representatives the chance to see the installation was well attended.

And he added: "A lot of work from volunteers and staff have gone into this. The gardens have been established for the use of service users and members of the public to enjoy and learn about the environment. This will be a great amenity for local families to enjoy locally.

"We would like to thank LEF for their continued support without which all this would not have been possible. This will help to enhance families' enjoyment and allow referrals to learn about the environment. And we hope to continue our work with LEF for the immediate future."

Apple Cast has also added some alpacas to its small animal farm and after Christmas the charity will be opening a community angling club which will be open to the public and free to join in return for providing coaching sessions for service users.

County watchdogs issue warning about latest scams

TRADING standards experts at Lancashire County Council are urging people to beware of pushy and aggressive driveway cleaners, bogus green grants and email and text scams.

The authority has been told about a woman who was asked to pay £500 up front by a man offering to power wash and remove moss from her drive. When the job was finished, the trader became aggressive, demanded £3,000 and drove her to the bank to get the cash.

There have also been complaints about traders who purport to offer work covered by eco-funding under a Government scheme. Whilst some funding may still be available, Trading Standards urges householders to do their own research and always say no to cold callers.

People are also being warned to beware of fake emails, which look as if they are being sent by communications company EE asking for payment details. This is a scam, the council says.

The message states there is an issue with the direct debit instructions of EE accounts and asks them to verify the details.

Intimidated

Similarly, people are being warned about a scam involving a text purporting to be from Tesco saying that they have won an IPhone

The advice is not to click on any links and never give personal details.

County Councillor Albert Atkinson, Lancashire's cabinet member for technical services, rural affairs and waste management, said: "People should always beware of cold callers and say no to work that is being offered on their doorstep.

"These traders can appear professional and act like they're providing a legitimate service but we receive reports of people being intimidated and asked to drive to the bank to get cash.

"Sometimes householders may receive flyers displaying official-looking logos, offering free energy saving services under eco-funding initiatives when this may not be the case, or may only be partially available or in limited circumstances.

"Our advice would be to always carry out research to find the best traders to help you. Our Safe Trader scheme is a great way to find approved traders in your area.

"People should not provide personal information in response to scam texts and phone calls. Anyone who is unsure should always contact the company separately to check."

Information on the latest scams and other consumer updates is available at the county council's Scambuster Stan page: https://en-gb.facebook.com/StanleyDards/.

Anyone wanting to find a local trader can use the Lancashire Safe Trader Scheme by visiting www.safetrader.org.uk or calling 0303 333 1111.

The Trading Standards team can be contacted via the Citizen's Advice helpline, 03454 04 05 06.

And anyone wanting to report a scam to Action Fraud can visit www.actionfraud.police.uk or call 0300 123 2040.

County Councillor Albert Atkinson: "Always beware of cold callers."

Book and exhibition to support National Care Leavers' Week

A NEW Lancashire County Council book and exhibition supporting National Care Leavers' Week is being launched this month.

The Happy Being Me book contains around 50 letters written by children and young people in 2017.

Each letter, written to themselves, captures their thoughts and feelings about being in care and looked after by the county council.

The 'Happy Being Me' exhibition features new letters written by children and young people who have been or are either currently looked after by the council. They describe the activities and events that make them happy and have a positive influence on their mental health.

It will run at The Harris in Preston from Thursday (October 31) to Wednesday, November 6, before moving on to venues in Fleetwood, Lancaster, Skelmersdale and Rawtenstall.

National Care Leavers' Week (October 28 to November 3) highlights the needs of care leavers and encourages all organisations responsible for looking after them to work effectively together.

County Councillor Phillippa Williamson, Lancashire's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: "I'm pleased that we've compiled the book from the letters written by the children and young people in 2017. It makes for very poignant reading.

"The letters are all different, and give a very personal view of experiences of being looked after, as well as an insight into their adult life.

"The exhibition showcases very individual thoughts on what makes the children and young people happy, and importantly impact on their mental health in a positive way.

"The national campaign aims to raise awareness of care leavers and I hope that as many people as possible take this opportunity and visit the exhibition.

"We intend to make really good use of the individual experiences shared in the book and the letters, by using them as part of the training of people working with children including foster carers and social workers."

Conservatives choose prospective parliamentary candidate

THE prospective Conservative candidate for West Lancashire at the next General Election has been selected.

Jack Gilmore, who currently works as a political researcher for Daniel Kawczynski, MP for Shrewsbury and Atcham, was chosen by members of the party's West Lancashire Association.

He says his campaign will focus on delivering a successful Brexit for the region; fighting for more support for local services; looking to protect the West Lancashire Green Belt by restricting future development to that required to meet local housing need; and addressing mental health funding locally.

He said: "I am overjoyed at being selected as Conservative candidate for West Lancashire. I was born in Billinge Hospital and lived in Appley Bridge until I was 18, so know the area well and the issues and concerns of the residents here.

"If elected as MP for West Lancashire I would look to oppose Labour's proposals for a new local plan to assist Merseyside's relentless urban sprawl and work to improve house building on brownfield instead of green field sites. Another priority would be to address mental health funding and the stigma still attached to it, which needs addressing."

On Brexit, Mr Gilmore said he was a firm believer that the 2016 referendum result must be honoured. He said: "We must leave the EU - with or without a deal. Whilst my preference is that we leave with a comprehensive deal, we should be prepared to leave without one if needs be."

Jack Gilmore (directly behind the Union flag) has been selected as the Conservative prospective parliamentary candidate for the borough by members of the party's West Lancashire Association.

Local villages recognised in county-wide competition

VILLAGES in the West Lancs area have won a number of awards and commendations in an annual competition to find the county's best kept areas and outstanding features.

Now in its 61st year, the Lancashire Best Kept Village Competition featured entries from 56 villages in 20 categories.

Mawdesley won best medium village, best cricket ground and was joint winner of best sheltered housing scheme (for Stocks Hall),

The village was also runner-up for children's play area with its Millennium Green.

The best small village was won by Bretherton, which also won best public house with the Blue Anchor pub on South Road and was runner-up for its bowling green at Bretherton Bowling Club,

Elsewhere, Halsall won best school for St Cuthberts CE Primary School on New Street, while Haskayne won best public playing field for its Jubilee Fields Play Park.

Haskayne was also runner-up for accessible public garden for its Orchard & Wild Flower Garden

Meanwhile, Parbold was highly commended in both the places of worship category with Our Lady and All Saints Church, Lancaster Lane and the shop category with The Old Post House on The Common.

Haskayne was also highly commended for its village hall,

Posting on social media, Mawdesley Parish Council wrote: "Some fantastic news just in. Mawdesley has won its class in the 2019 Lancashire's Best Kept Village Competition. Thanks must go to our fantastic lengthsmen, Peter Boardman and John Nicholls but also to each and every person who helped contribute to keeping our village as resplendent as it is!

"Also, Mawdesley Cricket Club and Stocks Hall were also top of their respective categories, and the Millennium Green came in as runner-up as well - a fantastic showing and congratulations to everyone involved."

The position of the lengthsman dates back to the Middle Ages and describes those employed by parish councils to maintain an area or length of road. Although the role fell into decline when road maintenance became the responsibility of county councils, it has been revived in recent years in some counties including Lancashire.

Mike Wainwright, chairman of Downholland Parish Council, which covers Haskayne, said he was delighted to announce that Haskayne had won Best Playing Field in Lancashire for Jubilee Fields Play Park.

"The award is a testament to the hard work put in by the parish council, Fran Dean who keeps the park clean and tidy, and to Rawsthorne Landscapes who maintain the grounds to a very high standard."

They're off! Participants get underway in the annual 3K fun run at Edge Hill University in aid of the local branch of the Cystic Fibrosis Trust.

Charity fun run shines through the clouds to raise record amount

RAIN failed to dampen the spirits of entrants in this year's 3K Cystic Fibrosis Fun Run at Edge Hill University with organisers hailing it a great success after it broke previous records for the amount of money raised.

Despite a wet and dismal morning more than 250 participants gathered for the annual event.

And just before the off, the rain finally stopped as Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Gaynar got the event underway and was then on hand to present medals to the finishers.

The run, now in its third year, raised more than £1,765 for the Ormskirk section of the Cystic Fibrosis Trust (CFT).

Chairperson, Margaret Ellams, said: "The weather certainly didn't dampen any one's spirits and just before the run began the rain stopped.

"I would like to thank everyone who supported the Fun Run which has become an established event in our calendar. We have raised an amazing amount, all of which will be used for funding research into finding a cure for this chronic condition."

Businesses or organisations interested in sponsoring the charity in 2020 are asked to contact Margaret by email at mfellams@hotmail.com.

Music therapy strikes the right notes with care home residents

CARE home residents enjoyed singing along and playing percussion instruments during a therapy session, designed to highlight the positive impact music can have on people living with dementia.

MHA's Aughton Park care home in Aughton Park Drive, offers music therapy as part on its ongoing care to help improve residents' quality of life, even during the most advanced stages of the condition.

The open music therapy session was held as part of MHA's national My Moment of Joy campaign which aims to raise awareness of the power music therapy has for alleviating symptoms such as agitation, depression and frustration, unlocking 'lost' memories and reconnecting with loved ones.

Following an introduction and explanation by music therapist, Erin Fother, a group session was held along with family members, staff and guests from the local community and residents were soon joining, including those that rarely speak singing along while others were shaking their maracas or tambourines to the beat.

Erin said: "The session was a perfect opportunity for visitors of all types to come and see exactly what a group music therapy session is like. The group was energetic, engaged, and full of life. The visitors that I spoke to were so happy they came to experience first-hand the transformations that can come from a group music therapy session."

Home manager, Nicola Ugurbascicek, added: "It was so nice to see friends, loved ones and fellow residents engaged in a meaningful music-making experience with everyone else in the room in a true community fashion. We had a fantastic day!"

Tennis club's coaching 'ace' scoops league's top award

A COACH who has helped to create a thriving programme at a local tennis club has been awarded Club Coach Of The Year at the Liverpool and District League awards.

Ben Obong (pictured) joined Aughton Lawn Tennis Club two years ago and since then the 41-year-old has attracted praise for his work with all age groups, while his contribution on court has also seen the club's men's 1st first team earn promotion to the league's top division.

He received his award at a ceremony at West Lancashire Golf Club where the Augton club also picked up three other trophies on the night - the ladies' 1st team and the men's 3rd team for winning their respective leagues and the mixed doubles team for winning the Chavasse Cup.

Club president, Helena Culshaw, said: "We are immensely proud of Ben's achievements. He is an integral part of the strategy to improve our coaching programme and our standing within regional tennis leagues."

Russian pianist stands in for Anna Fedorova who has suffered a hand injury

KATYA Apekisheva one of Europe's most renowned pianists, in demand internationally as both a soloist and as a chamber musician is to perform in the intimate surroundings of Parbold Village Hall's Auditorium on Saturday, November 2 at 7.45pm.

She will be standing in for the equally renowned pianist Anna Fedorova who has suffered a hand injury that makes it impossible for her to play from some weeks.

Katya Apekisheva will be playing a varied programme and will include Sergei Rachmaninov's daunting and demanding Études-Tableau, which offers an opportunity to hear the Auditorium's magnificent instrument at its very best. Her programme also includes Schubert's ever-popular Moment Musicaux and Prokofiev's Visions Fugitives, 20 short pieces, her performance of which won great critical praise in her Wigmore Hall, London recital.

Katya Apekisheva

Since becoming a prize-winner in the Leeds International and Scottish Piano Competitions and receiving awards such as the London Philharmonic Soloist of the Year and the Terence Judd Award, she has been marked out as a pianist of exceptional gifts. She performs in the most famous concert halls as a soloist, chamber musician and with the world's most distinguished orchestras.

Katya's November concert marks her second appearance for Parbold Douglas Music having partnered violinist Jack Liebeck. The concert will offer the opportunity to listen to Katya in the intimacy of the Parbold Auditorium and hear her 'simply beautiful sound' and her acknowledged ability to 'align herself perfectly with each composer's worldview' (Colin Clarke. Seen and Heard International: Wigmore Hall concert, London. June 2019).

The concert is sold out but there are some standby tickets available at the Box Office on the night. Doors open at 7pm. Tickets are £18 for adults and £5 for young persons and students.

Band marking 50 years of touring and recording

IT'S a milestone few bands have achieved… 50 years of continual touring and recording… and always at the highest level.

As Wishbone Ash take their place among a rare elite, they'll be celebrating with a 31 date tour covering the UK and coming to the Southport Floral Hall this Saturday (November 2) at 8pm.

Fans can look forward to enjoying repertoire from the band's vast catalogue of exactly 100 unique releases – 27 studio albums, 24 live albums, 43 compilations and box sets, and five live DVDs, along with a DVD rockumentary ("This is Wishbone Ash").

A specially extended set will be accompanied by a back-projection show featuring highlights from the band's illustrious career.

Having sold millions of albums, the band's iconic twin-guitar sound has become familiar to audiences around the world with legendary classics such as The King Will Come, Throw Down the Sword, & Blowin' Free.

Peter Hoyle and Celia Timmington in Corpse!

Actors 'excelled' in production of Corpse!

Review by Ron Ellis

CORPSE! by Gerald Moon
SDC at Southport Little Theatre

MY regular complaint about many of my theatre visits is the number of times the actors cannot be heard clearly beyond the front row. Voice projection these days seems to have gone out of fashion along with the megaphone. It beats me why directors do not insist on using stage microphones, enabling people in the back and middle of the theatre to actually hear the words spoken.

Happily, this was not a problem at the SDC's production of Corpse. All the actors were not only distinctly audible throughout but also excellent in their roles.

The plot was simple. Evelyn Farrent is poor but his twin brother, Rupert, is rich so he hires a hit man to kill him and he, Evelyn, will become Rupert.

The set was cleverly constructed as two separate apartments, one very atmospheric the other with a clever mechanical device.

Peter Hoyle exhibited the agility of a circus performer in his double role as the Farrant twins, changing personality convincingly at a whim and never missing a trick.

Mike Stowell, as always, gave an expert performance as Irish conman and would-be assassin, 'Major' Powell, getting the most laughs with his poker-faced innocence, while Celia Timmington, as the pleading landlady, made for some nice comedy vignettes especially in her scene as an elderly seductress.

This was the first time I have seen Corpse. Written in 1983, it has won awards all over the world so I was looking forward to seeing it but, in fact, I was quite disappointed. Not by the acting but by the play itself.

I found the first half very wordy, the two men going over details again and again, while the second half, instead of being a compelling thriller, descended into pure farce, as if writer, Graham Moon, had changed his mind halfway through.

Yes, there were belly laughs along the way, some clever humorous dialogue and the gymnastics were most impressive but by then the plot had disintegrated.

Making up the cast, Omar Hussein made a promising debut with the company as the bobby on the beat and Dave Smith could almost be seen at certain angles, doubling as a body.

Director, Gary Simpson, did a masterly job bringing all the physical stuff together and the fact that there wasn't a prompt all night showed the professionalism of the cast.

Pity about the script.

Star rating: 7 out of 10. Curate's egg. Funny in parts. Shame about the plot.

Benidorm stars appearing in panto

BENIDORM stars Tony Maudsley and Asa Elliott will be joined by much-loved Liverpool television and stage actor Louis Emerick in the Empire theatre's pantomime production of Peter Pan.

Empire favourite funny man John Evans is returning, with X Factor finalist Niki Evans providing the glamour as The Magical Mermaid in the show which opens from Saturday, December 7 and runs to Sunday, December 29.

Tony Maudsley will be taking a break from the Benidorm hairdressing salon where he is best-known for playing the lovable Kenneth Du Beke in the long-running, award-winning ITV comedy.

Louis Emerick is best known and well-loved for his twelve year portrayal of Brookside's Mick Johnson, and has been a mainstay on British Television for the last three decades, appearing on many of the nation's best loved programmes including Last of the Summer Wine, Casualty, New Tricks, The Bill, Waterloo Road and Coronation Street, as well as appearing in the film Layer Cake opposite James Bond actor Daniel Craig.

Louis has also proven himself to be a critically acclaimed stage performer appearing both at the Liverpool Empire and Royal Court, Liverpool, as well as at the Contact Theatre, Manchester alongside Mark Rylance in The Resistable Rise of Arturo Ui, and in works at the Royal Exchange and Stephen Joseph Theatre.

John Evans makes a welcome return to play ship-mate Smee. In this, his third consecutive Empire panto appearance, John will bring his much-loved quick wit and hilarious comedy routines which Empire audiences have come to expect.

MCCULLEY RAYMOND

They say there is a reason, they say that time will heal, but neither time nor reason will change the way we feel.
Every time we think of you, our hearts fill with pride, though we'll always miss you Dad, we know you are by our side.

From broken hearted Daughter Carole and Son in law Stephen xx

McCULLEY RAYMOND

What can I say?
I was lucky enough to have you as my best friend, drinking partner and Father-in-law.
You have left a massive void that nobody else can fill.
I've known you for so long that I can't remember a time you weren't part of my life.
I miss you so much already.
Good night, God bless Ray
from your Son-in-law Steph (Stephen) X

MCCULLEY RAYMOND

A golden heart stopped beating, now you lay to rest, God broke our hearts to prove, He only takes the best.
R.I.P. our lovely Grandad

Love Donna, Paul, Claire, Rob, Kelly, Liam and your Great Grandchildren xxx

What we'd give if we could say hello dad, in the same old way.
To hear your voice, see your smile
To sit with you and chat awhile
So you who have your father still
Cherish him with care for you'll never know the heartache
Till you see his vacant chair.

'Hefty' discounts will be available on two mud-plugging models

MITSUBISHI is currently offering some hefty discounts on two of its mud-plugging models.

For a limited time only, the car retailer is shaving £4,206 off the ex-VAT price of the L200 Challenger pick-up truck and £7,341 off the same price for the Shogun Sport Commercial off-roader as well.

Both deals are available online through its website.

Go to www.mitsubishi-motors.co.uk/buyto find out more about this model or the full range.

BMW 1-Series owners don't have to put up with old technology - so why should rail commuters

Lucky you, if you can finally afford BMW's new 1-Series!

LUCKY YOU. You did well at school, landed a decent job, worked your way up to managing a small team of talented colleagues…and you can finally afford BMW's new 1-Series.

It's an exciting prospect. The 1-Series might have traded in its party trick – being the only rear-driven kid in a class of hatchbacks letting the front wheels do all the work – but it's better packaged, better built and very nearly too nice to punt down a sweeping B-road as the old one. It's also, at £279 a month on personal contract hire for a 118i Sport, tantalisingly within reach.

But imagine if, having stuck down your deposit, the sharp-suited man from the BMW showroom dropped off an Austin Maestro instead.

Yes, the five-door hatch that took the fight to Ford's Escort and Vauxhall's second-generation Astra, and endorsed 35 years ago by a youthful-looking Noel Edmonds in some rather excitable TV ads. You'd be pretty peeved, right?

"Ahhh, awfully sorry sir", the chap from BMW might say. "Your new 1-Series isn't quite ready yet.

"It'll be ready early next year, we can assure you, but we wanted to make sure you can still get to work in the mornings. Yes, we know it went out of production 25 years ago, but it's still a five-door, front-wheel-drive hatchback, and it's great on fuel."

"But it's a Maestro, for heaven's sake," you protest loudly. "It's nothing like a 1-Series….and more to the point, I'm paying £279 a month for it!"

The response is polite, but firm. "It's all we've got, sir."

"Haven't you got a MINI Cooper – you make those as well, right? What about an old 3-Series? I used to have a second-hand 335d, and I loved it. Couldn't you get me one of those instead?"

"I'm sorry, sir. All of our other BMWs and MINI Coopers have been reserved for people in London and the South East. You live in the North of England. All we have for people in the North…are Maestros."

It's probably worth mentioning at this point that this would never, ever happen at your nearest BMW showroom…but something not entirely dissimilar is happening to a lot of people who, for whatever reason, choose to commute by train rather than at the helm of a new 1-Series. They've been promised new trains to replace the frankly rubbish ex-British Rail Pacers on their regular journeys into work – and now they've been told they have to put up with them until at least early 2020, and probably longer. In much the same way that I actually rather like the Maestro but would understand entirely that you wouldn't want to trade in your Golf GTD or Audi A1 for one, the Pacer deserves recognition for propping up rural communities a generation ago, and a genteel retirement on a heritage railway line somewhere.

But to continue inflicting them on people who think an iPhone 6 is old hat is just mean. Especially when they're paying for something newer and better.

As much as I love old British Leyland engineering it winds me up immensely every time I see one of these noisy, shaky, cramped and non-wheelchair-friendly excuses for a train creaking into a station in front of a crowd of depressed-looking commuters.

This, or a 1-Series? It's a no-brainer.

Ormskirk bring in all-rounder Marsh for next season

THE 2019 Liverpool & District Cricket Competition season came to a close in mid-September and my end of season reviews finished last week, writes Glenn Wallworth.

But a lot of serious hard work goes on at all clubs over the winter months, be it on the ground or off it trying to recruit new players in readiness for April 2020, so here's some fresh news on the comings and goings at our local clubs.

Premier Division champions Firwood Bootle have signed left arm spinner Jack Morley from Greater Manchester League side Heywood.

The 18 year old took 47 wickets at a miserly 8.89 each last season and was duly crowned bowler of the year in Division 1A.

One player leaving Wadham Road is Kieron New who has signed for Colwyn Bay.

Northern skipper James Cole has boosted his side with the signing of 2019 LDCC Premier Division player of the year Andrew Clarke who has stepped down as skipper of New Brighton to join the Moor Park club. Clarke has been prolific with the bat in recent years with an average of over 50 in two of his last three seasons at Rake Lane.

Formby have also been busy and have added former IPL (Royal Challengers Bangalore) bowling all rounder Abrar Kazi to their ranks to team up with recently signed Cheshire batsman Calum Turner at the Cricket Path.

Kazi is a left arm spinner and left handed middle order batsman who plays first class cricket for Nagaland, he has taken 48 first class wickets and has a highest score of 200* with the willow, rather surprisingly for an Indian his two favourite cricketers of all time are New Zealand spinner Daniel Vettori and former West Indian batsman Brian Lara.

Ormskirk skipper Nicky Caunce has signed all rounder Sam Marsh from Palace Shield Premier Division side Croston.

Marsh scored 601 runs last season at an average of 54.64 with six half centuries, he also took 62 wickets at an average of 8.02 with best figures of 7-30.

Newly appointed Ainsdale skipper Martyn Farrell has made his first appointment by signing all rounder Stuart Naden from Northern Premier Division side Chorley.

Fleetwood Hesketh are expected to appoint a replacement for Andrew Watts as club skipper at their upcoming AGM.

Paul McKenna has replaced the departing Paul Walters as captain of Maghull at Old Hall Field.

Southport & Birkdale, Southport Trinity and Hightown St Mary's expect to announce some new signing in the coming weeks.

Late goal agony for Skem in five goal thriller against Avro

It was raining goals during wet and windy night in Manchester!

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Avro 3
Skelmersdale United 2

SKELMERSDALE United conceded two late goals to lose a five goal thriller against newly promoted Avro.

Skem let a 2-1 lead slip in the last 15 minutes when they made a Friday night trip to Chadderton.

After going behind to a fifth minute goal, Paul McNally's team fought back and deservedly went 2-1 up in the 57th minute but then conceded goals on 75 and 80 minutes.

The game kicked off in torrential rain and arguably was only played because Avro play on an artificial surface.

The hosts took full advantage and went straight onto the attack.

Early on Skelmersdale goalkeeper Ben Barnes made a good near-post save but only five minutes had elapsed when Avro were rewarded for their opening enterprise.

Barnes dived to his right to parry away a shot from Danny Parkinson, however the ball fell to Joe Bevan who instead of expectedly shooting, squared the ball into the goalmouth where Louis Potts was able to steer the ball home from around six feet.

In the 42nd minute Skelmersdale equalised when Charlie Kelly controlled a through ball around 25 yards from goal and turned to unleash a terrific dipping shot that went into the top corner of the goal leaving the goalkeeper a flat-footed spectator.

Skelmersdale took the lead In the 57th minute and it was a goal right out of the top drawer.

Receiving the ball just outside the penalty area on the left, Peter Moore looked up and saw a gap to the goalkeeper's left. He curled a shot for the gap and for the second time that night the Avro keeper was left admiring a Skelmersdale shot as it went past him into the net.

Skelmersdale pushed on for a third and if it had come it would likely have been a different story, Moore crossed and Emini Adegbenro headed wide from a great position and a Kelly free-kick went just wide but the third goal wasn't to be.

They were eventually they were pushed back onto the defensive to hold onto their lead but a defender lost the ball about 30 yards from goal and the ball ran to Potts, he looked up and sent a right foot shot skimming into the far corner of the Skem net from 20 yards to make it 2-2.

Skem almost restored their lead but a Marvin Molyneux header went agonisingly wide of the far post but at the other Avro looked dangerous especially when Barnes smuggled a header wide of the foot of his post.

The pressure built up and Potts headed just wide before he was at the heart of a slick passing build-up on 80 minutes, the ball was eventually delivered into the six yard box where Harry Odell ran in and stabbed the ball into the net.

Skelmersdale went on the attack but it was too late and the best they could muster was a shot that went inches wide of the post with keeper Latham looking beaten, it was Avro's turn to hold on to their lead and they did.

On balance of play Skelmersdale could feel hard done by to travel home empty handed but the performance was an improvement on the one in midweek at Charnock Richard.

Skelmersdale United have no game until Thursday, November 7 when they are away to St Helens Town in the Liverpool Senior Cup

Linnets bolster squad with three signings

DESPITE Burscough's league match against 1874 Northwich being called off last weekend due to the bad weather, the Linnnets have been busy off the field after signing three new players, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

Having only picked up six points from their opening 12 matches, boss Nick Matthews has looked to bolster his squad.

The first new face is Harry Brazel who is a left sided defender who has been with Widnes since February.

He started his career with Everton before moving on to play for Marine, Stockport County, Leek Town, Runcorn Town and Winsford United.

He will not have great memories of his time with Skelmersdale as he was a member of the team that lost 10-1 at home Ashton United in March 2017.

Michael Grogan has also joined the club. He played for Burscough as a youngster as a centre-forward in the team that struggled in the then Blue Square North before being relegated in 2008/09.

Grogan went on to play for Telford, Warrington, Skelmersdale and Marine among others. He is a strong combative central midfielder who can do a good job in the middle of defence.

The third signing is Kevin Pollard, who was captain of the Widnes team that beat Burscough in a closely fought encounter at Fleetwood Town's Highbury ground in the 2018 Macron Cup Final.

He is a good leader and could be said to be the sort of player Burscough need if they are going to lift themselves out the relegation battle they are currently in.

While the subject is on player movements, Burscough supporters will no doubt be interested to learn that Chad Whyte has left Bootle and signed for Ashton Town last week.

Burscough head down the M6 to Winsford United this Saturday still in search of a first win since August.
